In our ideology, we have created an immortal and ever-living being, powerful and with supernatural powers, who travels between worlds, intergalactic planets, and the vastness of the cosmos, as well as traveling through intersections between parallel worlds. A creature that travels across the galaxy and takes on the faces of big-name characters from different times past or present, where we'll see them if what they'll look like in the deep future.

Yes, we have reflected our new ideology by perceiving deep modern visions, which are presented to us by the high imagination of valuable creations.

ON THE NEED FOR DIGITAL INFLUENCER MARKETING, A COMPLETE PLAN OVERVIEW.

The NFT industry is booming all over the world and the demand for NFT project creation is increasing day by day. For NFT projects created, an artist or an aspiring individual who aims to trade NFT art around the world needs to be in the spotlight and be known around a wide range of existing NFT project users, awareness is needed to stand out from the rest and increase success.

Doing this allows projects to attract more attention around them, create a buzz and it helps to sell as much profit as possible in the NFT market, through special websites and platforms, among them the most global market opensea, online communities and so on.

Here are some steps that can be taken to successfully sell one's latest NFT and/or promote future collections. Of course, it should be noted that for the success of NFT on a large scale and growing sales, a strong digital influencer marketing with complete works is needed and this is definitely justified and one and only effective way.

STEP 1: A community should be created:

The goal of creating a community around Project NFT Art is to create meaningful relationships fueled by feedback, encouragement, and engagement. A dedicated community interacts with the refined content of the project, follows it on its long-term perspective journey, sees the value of the project's work, and looks forward to the project's future NFT ups and downs to success. You need to create an NFT community, then assess what the target audience wants, develop a good roadmap to guide the project, and then develop a good game plan. A truly legitimate goal is to encourage followers, keep them happy, constantly foster a supportive community to encourage them, and keep them engaged. Of course, with consistent effort, over time it's possible to build a dedicated online community of hundreds—if not thousands—of organic fans.

STEP 2: The power of social media is strategic:

Setting up and expanding your own social media channels is an important way to increase the community within the project, to improve the project's online presence, of course to expand the target audience and to spread the word about the existing NFT art collections and branding. In addition, it allows to better organize and analyze, segment the personal audience, and as a result, the target audience is defined. Growing success requires an active push for future sales on social media using both organic and paid methods to increase traffic and sales within the project for NFTs in the long term, while organic methods include sharing photos, videos and user-generated content, as well as a supportive community (with followers) to engage, through comments and messages. Examples of paid methods are ads and sponsored posts.

STEP 3: A strong marketing strategy plan needs to be developed:

And having a good plan defined in this way, of course, having a well thought out marketing strategy really helps in promoting and branding the NFT business within the project, and for growing and rapid success, it is necessary to create a complete good marketing plan and then according to this plan and through the road map to effectively implement strategic action for the result. required, and as a result, the exact NFT target audience will be sought and found, and then the unique selling point (USP) of the project needs to be defined and a strategy developed for the right buyers. The document below outlines a plan to execute a four-month strong digital influencer full marketing effort and shows an accurate description of the required investment in finance, the funds in the document are required to carry out a full marketing effort.

TOTAL COST FOR FOUR MONTHS

| | |
|-----------------------|----------|
| 1 st Month | $28,000 |
| 2 st Month | $28,000 |
| 3 st Month | $28,000 |
| 4 st Month | $28,000 |

Total = $112000

Digital marketing in NFT business is greatly needed
